CCTV being upgraded by Telent (FOC) – ongoing, they are also looking at security lighting.

We need to continue to lock the court in the evenings as much as possible, once again we have had issues with the court being used late at night and broken glass being left on site. This is not great for Sound Hounds or the neighbours.

The automatic doors are still intermittently opening by themselves, when we are on track financially, we need to look at a provision to replace them.

Generally, the system of having the hirers taking responsibly for the security of the building when they leave is unsustainable, plus the amount of keys and doors means it is too easy for the building to be left unsecure.

We are lucky that we have had only a few instances of anti-social behaviour inside the building when it is left unsecure, but this needs to be looked at for the future. Ideally we need to look at a provision for a fob system, generally around £1K per door.

The 24/7 monitoring runs on a ISDN line for both the alarm and the fire panel this will need reviewing. Do we need a 24/7 call centre?
